VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1867. NO. 242.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

NORTHERN versus SOUTHERN JUSTICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE N. Y. WORLD:—In your paper of the 27th. inst. I observe a notice of a suit brought to recover property sold in North Carolina under the Confederate confiscation laws. The learned judge remarked, in the course of a preliminary hearing at Chambers, that "there had been no decision upon the question by any court authorized to decide it," that he was aware of.

I have thought it might be useful as well as interesting to some of your readers to find that this question has been decided by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Not long after Lee's surrender, I learned that a valuable property in real estate, belonging to me, in the City of Fayetteville, North Carolina, had been sold under the confiscation act, and was then in the occupation of the purchaser. I immediately decided to file a bill in equity, claiming restoration, in the Supreme Court of the State, taking care to do so as "a citizen of Pennsylvania" (where I have always resided), so that in case of an adverse decree I could remove my case into the United States Court.

I experienced no delay in the progress of the suit other than what the rules of the court made necessary; was treated through out with the utmost courtesy; and after strong opposition on the part of the confederate claimant, upon a very full hearing, a decree was made, not only restoring the property, but giving me the rents and profits in the interim of adverse occupation. I could not have reached this result in the United States Courts without much greater expense and delay.

The Hon. J. G. Shepherd, of Fayetteville, (brother-in-law of the late Secretary Dobbin,) was my counsel, to whom reference may be had as to any further particulars of the proceedings in this case—the decision of which shows that Northern business men and non-residents can obtain justice in the Courts of the Southern States, and, also, how utterly false are some of the pretences of the late Radical Congress, in their revolutionary and tyrannical establishment of a military despotism over those States.

Towanda, Pa. C. L. W.

MEXICAN NEWS.

The steamship Virginia, Captain Deaken, from Vera Cruz, Sisal, and Havana, arrived at New York on the 17th.

The Virginia left Vera Cruz May 4, P. M. The siege still continues, with but little activity on either side. Vera Cruz is now well fortified. The Liberals have but few guns, and hopes are entertained by the besieged that the yellow fever season, which is now coming on shortly, will drive many of the Liberals away.

From the interior of Mexico there is no reliable news to report. The Virginia brought on to Havana some twenty passengers brought up to the ship from Boca del Rio (in possession of the Liberalists) by the boats of the English man-of-war Jason. From these passengers it is understood that the commander of the American steamship Tacony refused to send his boats ashore to take off the Americans who wished to leave the country. For this I cannot vouch. All I do know is, that the English boats brought them up. One American officer accompanied the English boats on their second trip to Boca del Rio to make arrangements for them, however. The Liberalists did not allow any one to enter the city, and this was why these persons had to come on board thus. The Americans on board were very discontented with the American gunboats. Max is supposed to be still at Queretaro. Mexico is said to be partly in possession of the Liberals.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Supreme Court of the United States, during the term just closed, disposed of 200 cases, leaving 250 cases on the docket. All the Admiralty cases argued were decided. It is a matter of comment that the Court recognized Texas as a State in the Union, by allowing an injunction to restrain the payment of certain bonds alleged to have been fraudulently obtained during the rebellion from that State. The justices, who were equally divided on the motion to amend the Mississippi bill, are Chase, Wayne, Nelson, Clifford, Swayne, Miller, Davis, and Field. These compose the Court, with the exception of Judge Grier, who left Washington yesterday before the meeting of the Court. As both the Georgia and Mississippi injunction cases have been dismissed, the subpœnas issued against Generals Grant, Pope, and Ord, and Secretary Stanton, now fail, of course, to be of effect.

Developments to-day leave no doubt that the leading Radicals are determined, if possible, to secure a July session of Congress. They have added to the impeachment hue and cry the additional plea that the national financial situation demands legislation.—Judge Spalding, of Ohio, who, it will be remembered, violently opposed a summer session, is now claimed as having been convinced that one is needed.—Wash. Correspondent N. Y. Herald.

RICHMOND, May 17.—The Whig, to-day, says the negroes in the neighborhood of Carbon Hill Pits have rendered the land proprietors and other citizens uneasy by their threats of confiscation in accordance with their idea of the legislation of Congress. Those who are threatened with violence have appealed to General Schofield for protection.

The Queen of Belgium proposes to have a crown for the first time, and the jeweller is making it of forty pearls, forty large brilliants and 5,000 small ones, all set in gold, to resemble a coronal of flames and to weigh less than half a pound.

The London Athenæum publishes the following copy of an early sonnet by the Poet laureate. It was published in "The Yorkshire Literary Annual for 1832," and is not referred to by the editor of "Tennysoniana," just published by Mr. Pickering:

There are three things that fill my heart with sighs,
And steep my soul in laughter (when I view
Fair maiden forms moving like melodies),
Dimples, roselips, and eyes of any hue.
There are three things beneath the blessed skies
For which I live, black eyes, and brown and blue:
I hold these all most dear; but oh! black eyes,
I live and die, and only die for you.
Of late such eyes looked at me—while I mused,
At sunset, underneath a shadowy plane,
In old Bayona nigh the southern sea—
From an half-open lattice looked at me.
I saw no more only those eyes—confused
And dazzled to the heart with glorious pain.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

WM. E. PELL, | SEATON GALES, EDITORS.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1867.

A WORD TO NORTH CAROLINA VOTERS.

The history of Tennessee, under the despotic control of Brownlow and his minions, should arouse every true North Carolina voter, white and black, to resist, by their unanimous ballot, every attempt to fasten upon this State a similar reign of terror to that which prevails in that State.

We gave, on Monday, a most searching and powerful review of the condition of affairs there from the speech of that uncompromising Union man, Col. John Baxter.—The extracts we gave exhibit only a small part of the evils now borne by the people of that State. The greater part of Col. Baxter's speech deals in the local facts and incidents which have occurred and are still occurring, some of which we shall bring to the notice of our readers hereafter.

No one can charge Col. Baxter with secession proclivities, nor can any one doubt the truth of his statements. He has acted, as far as he could conscientiously, with the Brownlow party, until forced by their bitter partizan and personal vindictive course to abandon them. Thousands of the best Union men of the State are abandoning the rotten and corrupt Brownlow party, alias the Radical Republican party of that State, and declaring themselves in favor of the restoration of conservative principles.—Many of the leading men of the State are taking the stump in favor of the conservative candidate, Emerson Etheridge. Large numbers of the enfranchised blacks, convinced of the hollow-heartedness and hypocrisy of the Brownlowites, are abandoning them, and will unite with the conservative whites to throw off the despotism.

There is no secessionism in this moment. Not a single secessionist or Southern war man is permitted to vote in that State. It is the spontaneous uprising of the true Union men of Tennessee, determined to put down the vile partizan and destructive policy of Brownlow Radicalism and restore the State to its true republican character.

What will the true Union men do in this State? Are they willing that the so-called Unionists, the hybrid Southern Loyalists or Radicals, shall place North Carolina in the present position of Tennessee? Are they willing that the factionists and vindictive partizans of this State shall continue the strife and bitterness of the war, when every interest of the State demands harmony and peace? We cannot believe that the true Unionists of the State will give their aid to this feculent, persecuting party, whose object is the gratification of personal and partizan hate and their own self promotion.

Let the people,—the good, honest, conservative people of the State, both white and colored,—resolve to defeat the wicked aims of these men. Let them resolve that the State Convention shall be strongly conservative, truly republican in its character, and so constituted as to promote the highest interests of every man, woman and child in the State.

This is no small matter. The issues are of the highest importance. In the language of Col. Baxter, we appeal to you:

"Fellow-citizens, the issue is not one as to whether the Congress or the President is right; of loyalty or disloyalty; it is not whether we will ally ourselves with the Radical or Conservative party of the nation; it is not one as to the best mode of reconstructing the rebel States; it is not one of freedom or of slavery; whether the negro shall or shall not vote; but it is a struggle for existence as a community—one of life or death, of civil liberty or military despotism; of honesty or corruption; of civilization or barbarism; whether the State shall be governed by its moral worth and intelligence, or by a despicable oligarchy, composed of a lean minority of the worst men in the State. In such a contest, no good man, properly impressed with the danger of the situation, can be an indifferent spectator. Rise, therefore, I beseech you, and shake the dew-drops from your garments, and in the spirit of true manhood, move forward to action and to victory. That victory will perch upon your banner is as certain as that the sun rises in the east and sets in the west. Your success is a necessity of society."

THE Standard continues, in its blind rage, to hammer away at the Railroads as being "rebel" organizations. One would have supposed that its recent experience with the North Carolina Railroad would have been sufficient to silence it. It charged that a certain individual was removed from office on that Road, because he was a "Southern Loyalist." The authorities of the Road gave the true reason for his removal, to-wit: that he had received funds, for which he failed to account, until after detection. Its railings against the other Roads are just about as well-founded as this one was. For example, the following, from that paper, is utterly devoid of truth, in part and in whole:

"Mr. Thomas was turned out of this office [the Presidency of the Atlantic & N. C. R. R.] on account of his loyalty, and Mr. Whitford was put in on account of his disloyalty. The organization of this Railroad is bitterly hostile to the national government. No truly loyal man can get employment from this corporation. One of the main tests for employment and office under it is, does the applicant sympathize with the dead Confederacy, and does he hate the Republican party?"

The blasphemous Brownlow maligns Jewish citizens with the same beastliness that he slanders other people. Here is a specimen:

The Jewish anti-slavery gamblers, who put Christ to death, divided his garments, as you recollect, casting lots for them. And from that day to this, whenever you meet one of the abolition Jews, he is engaged in the clothing business, either retailing or wholesaling "ready-made clothing."

THE BEST WAY TO RECONSTRUCT THE SOUTH.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—We learn with pleasure that a number of liberal and benevolent citizens of Boston have, at the suggestion of a Northern gentleman who recently passed through our State, devoted several thousand dollars for the relief of the sorrowing and suffering women and children of this State. Charity, with these men, is not a mere theory, a beautiful sentiment, but a positive conviction of duty and religion, which knows no barrier of sect, race, social position, or political opinion. We repeat, that these worthy and charitable gentlemen, in this timely and beautiful deed of Christian charity, are actuated by the purest and the loftiest principles of a Christian humanity.

This truly noble effort to aid our thousands of destitute people will do much to heal the wounds engendered by the war, and to hasten the beautiful period when the tie of Christian charity,—the message of brotherly love,—the divine evangel, shall speak from heart to heart, from soul to soul, of all the dwellers in this great brotherhood of States. This ever-living chain of sympathy,—this unselfish, brave, and generous philanthropy, with a "tear for pity and a hand open as day to melting charity,"—this is the true and surest way to refashion, reorganize and reconstruct the fortunes of the gallant South. Let there be no time lost in the distribution of these funds. Whilst the politicians are making speeches about States, let the humane and generous people of the North imitate and emulate the conduct of these New Englanders, and hasten to feed and clothe the countless poor, white and black, of our prostrate and suffering South. Such acts of benevolence were never more needed than at the present time. It may be objected that the calamity of our State is too large to be remedied by this little help. A cup of water is but little—the spade reveals it at every man's door—and yet a cup of water set within the reach of fevered lips may give a shock of pleasure more sweet than draughts of nectar in more auspicious and healthier times. These funds are now in the hands of Gen. Miles, W. W. Holden and R. W. Pulliam,—the committee appointed for this State.—We understand that it is their intention to appropriate this money to the purchase of such articles as are required by the sick, aged and helpless of both races—and which are not furnished by the Freedmen's Bureau.

The Committee are extremely anxious that Churches and benevolent societies should co-operate with them in the proper and immediate distribution of this generous gift. They would esteem it a favor should any gentleman or lady, throughout the State, interest themselves in the furtherance of so noble an object.

The above article we very cheerfully give place to. The benevolent design of the donors commends itself to our hearty sympathy and co-operation. The donors in Boston have selected the committee through whom their alms shall be dispensed, and Gen. Miles' official position enables him more fully to understand the wants of a very large portion of the community than any one else. He would be glad that benevolent ladies or gentlemen, connected with the several Churches or neighborhoods, would interest themselves in having these contributions distributed among proper persons, both needy and deserving, whether among white or colored. They are not designed to supply the needy with bread and meat, because it is believed that the Freedman's Bureau and contributions from other sources will meet that demand; but it is designed that these contributions shall supply medicines and delicacies to the sick and feeble, and to poor widows and children clothing and other necessaries, who have been deprived of the hand that hitherto supplied their wants.

It is proper that those, who apply for aid from this fund, should communicate facts, names, and such incidents as would enable the committee to give such information to the donors as would be gratifying, and make them assured that their kind intentions have been properly appreciated.

CONWAY is in New Orleans. He made a speech on Lafayette Square a few evenings since. Here are a few gems from his speech, which we find in the New Orleans Crescent:

"We are going to have black Yankees and white Yankees in the City Hall in the City Councils. We will have black Yankees and white Yankees on the police. And when the public schools educate colored men sufficiently, black Yankees and white Yankees will sit on the bench as judges.—Send some of these black Yankees to the Convention.

We will have in the same Legislature black Yankees and white Yankees.

These black Yankees fought on the same battle-field with myself, and some of them proved themselves braver than I am. Some of these black Yankees have preached in the same pulpit with me, and preached better sermons than I did.

I am going to organize something here that will make the rebels mad. We will have twenty thousand leaguers in Louisiana, and they will be a power."

No one will question the accuracy of the speaker in any statement going to show his personal inferiority to the average black man, as regards true clerical fitness, bravery or common sense.

"RED STRINGS."—There was a convocation of members of this secret political organization in this City on Monday. There were but few of them in attendance, we judge. The Standard mentions the names of nine, (and we presume that covers the list,)—the most conspicuous among whom are "windy Billy," (Henderson,) of Davidson, and Mr. E. T. Blair, who wore a secession cockade soon after South Carolina seceded. There was some speaking by some of them from the portico of the Executive Mansion, (Military Headquarters,) on Monday night, to a motley crowd.

The following comprises a list of some of the officers elected. It is no body's business how we got it:

Grand Chancellor—J. P. Andrews.
Grand Secretary—Wm. F. Henderson.
Master of Dispatches—E. D. Haines.

We wonder what a "Master of Dispatches" does? Does he manufacture the "Raleigh-grams" and lying dispatches that are scattered all over the North, to the prejudice and injury of our people?

Brownlow, in his address to the people of Tennessee, claims to have been an abolitionist all his life, and says he defended slavery in his debate with Pryne, in Philadelphia, because he was challenged, though on the wrong side of the question.

THE SOUTH is rich in resources. The sun in its course through the heavens never shone upon a fairer clime. Nature, in its most lavish prodigality, never crowned any other land with more profuse or richer gifts. Embracing within its limits every variety of soil, all diversities of climate, and almost every known species of product,—with fields that yield golden harvests to the smallest amount of labor,—with water power sufficient to move the machinery of the world,—with mineral resources inexhaustible, and forests of immeasurable capacity for all the utilities of art, commerce, building and navigation, Providence never gave a grander heritage to man. There were many causes in the past that conspired to prevent that full development and appropriation of these resources, which was all that was necessary to make the Southern portion of the United States a miracle of progress and the wonder and admiration of the world. Surrounded by abundance,—revelling in the spontaneous luxuries of a genial soil and climate,—accustomed but to reach out the hand, as it were, to grasp sufficient for the gratification of personal wants and comforts,—loth, in the main to work, when much could be had without hard work, and where there was a servile class to labor for them,—our people, we fear somewhat indolent, independent, and content with what nature had done for them, lagged behind in the great race of material advancement.

War came and swept away the accumulations of years, broke up the old system of labor, and brought our population face to face with stern realities and sterner duties. But it left the same soil, the same climate, the same fields, forests and rivers, and our people, with an energy and resolution of which they were unconscious possessors, until the severe ordeal of war evolved those qualities, looked the situation in the face, and prepared to use those grand natural resources which hitherto they had but enjoyed. There was every stimulus for them to do so, for necessity stared them in the face. There was every encouragement for them to do so, for the policy of the conqueror, as exhibited in the acts of the Executive head of the Government, then promised to be humane, magnanimous and unexpectedly liberal. And so, at once, the hum of industry arose in the land. Men who had never labored before seized the plough or engaged in novel and varied pursuits for livelihood. The ravages of war were being rapidly repaired. Fences and buildings, which had gone to wreck during the four long years, or had been destroyed by hostile armies, were rebuilt; and in every quarter were exhibited the most remarkable evidences of hope and thrift.

There is not as much spirit, vitality or resolution,—as much hope, faith or courage—in the South, this day, we fear, as there were twelve or eighteen months ago. The reasons are two-fold. The unpropitious season, which, in a large section of country, greatly reduced the average crops, and, in others, almost totally blasted them, by no means tells the whole story, or half of it.—The prospect of a stable government, of a harmonious adjustment of our national troubles, of a continued just and generous policy, would have enabled our people to recover easily from such a drawback. To the demoralization of labor, produced by the machinations of Radical emissaries, to the apprehension of further hardships and severities at the hands of the dominant power, and to the unsettled political condition, generally, are owing the scarcity, the dispondency and the indifferance that exist in the South, and which are every day re-acting upon the industrial and financial interests of the entire country.

However rich our natural resources, their development demands that energy, that confidence, and that inspiration born of the consciousness of freedom, which the Southern people have not and cannot have while they remain inferiors and dependents in the political household that is their inheritance.

THE NEW ORLEANS Crescent very correctly observes that, bad as Brownlow is, he is not the worst man of the faction which he so faithfully represents. There are other Brownlows, not only in Tennessee, but in all the other Southern States. There is hardly one of them but would at least equal Brownlow in ferocity and despotism should the opportunity occur for the display of those qualities. Says the Crescent:

"There is not one of them but would disfranchise the mass of the white population, and use the blacks for the purpose of maintaing themselves in power. There is not one of them but would establish a standing army, like Brownlow's, to enforce their contemplated disfranchisement laws. There is not one of them but would delight in setting the two races of the State in hostility to each other, and provoking some destructive conflict, in the midst of which they might fill their pockets with plunder and strengthen their hands with power. The contest with these men is not a mere struggle for the ascendancy of one or another set of political principles, for political principles are not at issue in the canvass. It is not a mere conflict of parties disputing for ascendancy, but it is a contest of the intelligence and industry of the State against organized corruption and ferocious revenge. Those who do not vote at the coming elections assist to forge the chains which a vindictive faction are forging for their fellow-citizens. They aid in surrendering the government into the hands of persons whose only notion of government is that it is an agency for the gratification of malignant and selfish passions. They participate in assuring consequences which cannot be contemplated without trepidation and abhorrence; and they will be held responsible by the rest of their fellow citizens for all of the evils which will thereby be entailed on the State."

DIRECT TRADE.—The British Steamship Melita sailed from Norfolk for Liverpool, a few days since, with a cargo consisting of 559 bales of cotton, 11,000 bushels of corn, and tobacco and naval stores. We are glad to see it stated that an increasing interest is being manifested in this direct trade, and that the value of importation, as well as exportation, is likely to witness a proportionate increase during the present season. The Delaware succeeds the Melita and will load in Norfolk at once.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION OF N. C.

This body, lately in session in Wilmington, and the proceedings of which, during the first two days of the session, we have already presented in a condensed form, adjourned on Saturday evening. The next Convention will be held in Tarboro', on the first Wednesday of May, 1868.

The further consideration of the election of an Assistant Bishop was postponed until the meeting of the next regular Diocesan Convention.

A resolution was adopted, requesting the Bishop to attend and represent this Diocese in the Pan-Anglican Council, called by the Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, to meet in London, in the month of September, and the Treasurer of the Convention was directed to furnish the means necessary to enable him to do so.

A Committee, consisting of Messrs. S. L. Fremont, W. R. Cox, John Wilkes, Jno. Hughes, James G. Martin, R. F. Fulghum and W. A. B. Norcum, was appointed to raise an Episcopal fund of $50,000.

Rev. Drs. R. S. Mason, F. M. Hubbard and A. Smedes, and Messrs. Geo. W. Mordecai and K. P. Battle were elected Standing Committee for the year.

Mr. R. H. Smith, from the committee on Religious Instruction for freedmen, reported as follows:

"The committee to whom was referred that portion of the Bishop's address which relates to the subject of the education and religious instruction for freedmen, beg leave to report,

That, from various circumstances, they consider the subject before them as one requiring the prompt and earnest attention of the Church: First, that the freedmen by the act of emancipation being suddenly placed in an entirely new position, and in new relations, it is eminently expedient that they should possess such qualifications as will enable them the better to perform the new duties of their position. One of these qualifications is undoubtedly intellectual training. This they not only ought to receive, but are receiving from various quarters, and, if it were only from a Christian emulation, we ought not to suffer others to surpass us in so proper and necessary a work. But the acquisition of knowledge, like every other power, may, unless under the control of a well directed principle, be employed for evil as well as for good. The education of the mind should therefore, in all cases, and certainly not least in the present case, be accompanied by the education of the heart. Now the intellectual training of the freedmen by others may either be without the inculcation of religious and moral principles, or such as we must necessarily consider defective or erroneous, or both; plainly, then, it is our duty to enter on the work with prompt and earnest action:

First, Because it is an emergency which must be met at once, a requirement which demands immediate compliance.

Secondly, That if it is a duty to be performed at all by any one, it is as much, to say the least, our duty, as the duty of any other portion of the community.

Thirdly, still more are we bound to engage at once in this work in order that we may correct, as far as possible, the improper defective or erroneous education which will otherwise be imparted.

From these considerations the committee beg leave to offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Convention, that the intellectual as well as the moral instruction of the colored people be attended to in every Parish, by the establishment of regular schools, as well as Sunday schools, in which the principles of the Church shall be taught, or, where the former cannot be effected, by the establishment of Sunday schools; and that it be commended to the members of the Church, who are suitable for catechists and teachers, the christian duty of engaging in this work without delay.

Resolved, That wherever the Constitution and Canons of this Church are complied with, colored men should be received into its ministry as spiritual teachers and pastors of their race.

Resolved, That for the purpose of erecting Churches and School Houses for colored people, this Church is willing to receive aid from all sources.

A vote by orders being called for on these resolutions, was taken, and resulted in their passage.

"THE INDICATOR."

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I solicit space in your paper to notice a valuable North Carolina Journal, and indicate briefly its eminent claims to North Carolina patronage.—The paper to which I refer is "The Indicator," published at Warrenton, N. C., under the editorial management of Rev. Theo. B. Kingsbury, who edited, some years since, with distinguished ability, the (Oxford, N. C.,) "Leisure Hour." "Devoted to Literature, Religion, Agriculture, and General Intelligence," and more than fulfilling the promises of its prospectus, "The Indicator" already exerts a healthy and happy influence wherever it goes. To extend its circulation, to establish it on a permanent basis, by awarding it the remunerative encouragement it so thoroughly deserves, would enlarge the sphere of its usefulness and aid in the dissemination of chaste literary entertainment and instruction.

The religious department of the Indicator is truly evangelical—is void of all indication of sectarian bias, and must prove grateful and beneficial to Christians of whatever name.

Mr. Kingsbury is a graceful, genial, forceful writer. He wields a facile pen, and draws from a mind richly stored with the choicest literary treasures, apt and elegant illustrations to enforce views, never common-place, and often characterized by marked originality. He possesses, too, the happy faculty of investing the tritest themes with the semblance of novelty.

I have seen no journal latterly, that evinces as this does, in every issue, the marks of such tasteful and judicious literary eclecticism. The poetical selections in the Indicator are always admirable, and should alone, aside from its other merits, secure it the support of all among us who cherish a love of the beautiful and would stimulate its development. Perhaps an hundredth part of the money now worse than wasted by our people in supporting "Harper's Weekly," the New York Ledger, and like Northern publications, would handsomely sustain the Indicator, and conduce to its enlargement and typographical improvement. Northern papers of the class I have mentioned, are filled with a most pernicious literature.—Sensational serials—tales of murder, intrigue and seduction, demoralizing in their tendency and pandering to vitiated tastes and morbid sensibilities, are their staple attractions. Leaving, then, such prurient publications to find audience and sustenance in the land of their nativity, let us foster and support healthy literary enterprise at home. This is the dictate of true conservative patriotism.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, }
Randolph County. }

Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions.

We, the Grand Jurors, representing the people of the County aforesaid, would most respectfully present our Judiciary system of this State as a grievous and heavy burthen to the mass of the people now, in their distressed and impoverished condition. Many of the various classes are taken from their avocations and ordinary pursuits of life for Jurors, witnesses and suitors, to attend six terms of the Courts a year, at much loss of time and expense to themselves, and with but little advantage to the public in the performance of Judicial business.

We take this method of calling the attention of the public, and very particularly the learned counsel of the State, as to whether there might not be substituted for our present system a Court of Probate, as is now practiced in some of our sister States of the Union, and three Superior Courts in a year, by which the public business might be done with despatch, and much waste of precious time and expense saved to the people, and at the same time the administration of justice made more speedy and certain.

Advices from South America, per Atlantic cable, are important. Lopez, President of Paraguay, has accepted the offer of mediation in the pending war, proffered by the United States, through our minister, Mr Washington, and will despatch at once an envoy to Washington to represent Paraguay in the proposed Congress of representatives of the South American States. Brazil and her allies, however, have not as yet signified their acceptance of the offer. There had been further fighting between the contending armies.

MARRIED,

THE SENTINEL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—N. C. Dental Association: V. V. Turner, Corresponding Secretary.

Agricultural Ware House: Mitchell, Allen & Co., 22 Pollock St., Newbern.

Grand and Square Pianos: Branson & Farrar, Agents for Stieff, Baltimore.

RAIL ROAD ACCIDENT.—We failed to receive our Northern mail, at the usual hour, on Monday evening, owing to that most unusual occurrence,—an accident on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad. We regret to learn that the mail train ran off the track between Kittrell's and Henderson, and that Mr. Cardozo, the mail agent, was severely hurt, and Mr. Parham, the Express Messenger, and the baggage master, were also somewhat bruised. We hear of no further damage.

COMMITTEE ON THE UNIVERSITY.—In specifying the names of the gentlemen composing the Committee appointed by the Legislature to investigate the affairs of the University, we erroneously placed Capt. J. J. Davis, of Franklin, thereon. The Committee, on the part of the House of Commons, consists of Messrs. Peebles, Foard and Morehead. It is greatly to be desired, we repeat, that the Committee should have a meeting during Commencement week.

PIANOS.—We invite attention to the advertisement of Stieff's (Baltimore) 1st Premium Grand and Square Pianos in another column. Stieff is one of the most celebrated manufacturers in the country, and those who have used his Pianos speak of them in the highest terms of praise. His references are of the best character, and of themselves are sufficient to testify the excellence of his manufactures. We happen to know of several of our largest Female Seminaries that have bought his Pianos and bear the most flattering testimony to their superiority.—Branson & Farrar are the agents for this city.

QUICK RESPONSE.—It will be remembered that, a few day since, we published a sensible, earnest and manly letter from a disabled young Confederate soldier, J. J. Bennett, of Nash county, formerly of the 4th. N. C. T., pleading for an opportunity of doing something for a livelihood suited to his mutilated condition. One of the most enterprising merchants in this State, and a gentleman of enlarged liberality, but who is of the sort that is unwilling to let the "left hand know what the right hand doeth," and therefore will not allow his name to be mentioned, writes us that if "the party only lacks a few months' tuition to enable him to teach school, I will send you $25 towards his expenses." This is noble. Who will do likewise? Which of our various Schools or Seminaries will give the young man free tuition, while the charities of the generous are being appropriated to board and incidental expenses?

BURGLARY.—On Monday night, the residence of our friend Jno. C. Palmer, Esq., was entered by a burglar, who conducted himself in a very cool and singular manner. A pane of glass was taken from a window, which enabled the thief to remove the fastenings above the sash. There are evidences that he went through nearly all the rooms in the house, except the sleeping apartments, but without disturbing anything, although there were many things to attract cupidity, until he came to a temporarily unoccupied bedroom. From it a trunk was abstracted, taken out into the yard and opened, where it was found, early yesterday morning, but, remarkable to relate, with none of the contents missing. The burglar was, doubtless, in search of money, or else his proceedings were of a very inexplicable character. No clue has been obtained to the affair.

COMMISSIONERS OF CLAIMS.—This body has been in session three or four weeks, and will continue to sit several weeks longer.—The Commissioners have embodied their principles of action in a set of rules, heretofore published in the Sentinel. Those rules are based on the Constitution, and laws affecting the claims which are not, by the Convention, declared to be void—and which the Legislature are bound to provide the means of paying. A copy of these rules can be had on application to the Board.

Some claims have been already acknowledged by the Legislature as binding, while the consideration of many has been postponed, to await the action of these Commissioners, whose duty requires them to approve all such as are not repudiated by the Convention, and report them to the next session of the Legislature, that provision may then be made for their ultimate payment.

All who hold claims against the State, whether by bond or otherwise, which originated during the war, and which the claimants believe to be free from the war taint, should present them to this Board without delay. It may be that the Legislature will refuse to consider them, and provide for their payment, without the approval of this Board, which was constituted for the express purpose of relieving that body from the many perplexities which embarrass the subject.

The claims as yet presented are presumed to be but a small part of those outstanding, which are entitled to favorable consideration. There should be no delay in presenting these claims.

A HEART-RENDING OCCURRENCE.

Yesterday evening, about dark, occurred one of those terrible accidents, which causes the heart to sicken in sorrow at its recital, which has thrown a happy house-hold into speechless agony, and has enshrouded in gloom the feelings of an entire community.

Mr. John P. Jordan, the worthy and estimable Sheriff of this county, had just returned home, about two miles west of this place, after several weeks absence, having been detained on his return by a fearful storm at sea, and was receiving the greetings of overjoyed hearts, when a terrific explosion and the screams of children announced the sad and awful accident related below, as accurately as can be ascertained:

Miss Mary Jordan, aged about 12 years, daughter of Mr. John P. Jordan, Miss Ellen Gunn, her first cousin, aged 13 years, daughter of Mr. W. H. Gunn, Clerk of Liberty county, and a colored girl of about the same age, were at the door of a closet opening on the back piazza, pouring Kerosene oil from a five gallon can into what is called a feeder can. The colored girl held a small torch light. It is supposed the gas from the large oil can communicated with the light, and immediately the explosion took place, saturating with oil the clothing of the children, and enveloping them in flames. In a few minutes they were burned into a crisp, and this morning, between 7 and 8 o'clock, retaining perfect consciousness to the last moment, though in great suffering, and expressing a willingness to die, the pure and sinless spirits of these two lovely and interesting children, the adored at home, and the beloved of associates, winged their eternal flight. This is one of the saddest events that the pen is ever called upon to record.

The colored girl was alive at the latest accounts, though beyond all hopes of recovery.

The hands and arms of Mr. Jordan were badly burned in endeavoring to extinguish the flames.—Quincy (Fla.) Commonwealth, May 15th.

Gen. Mower, addressing the colored rioters in New Orleans, when two hundred passed his headquarters on their way to the new Basin, brandishing clubs, and threatening to lynch the contractors there, said: "If you feel yourselves wronged, you must apply to the proper authorities for redress, and you shall have it; but if you take this thing into your own hands, you may lose what rights you already possess. If you go on with this rioting, by the eternal God I will throw grape and canister into you. Now, disperse and go to your homes, or to your work." The mob immediately dispersed.

The Minerva (French semi-official journal here) tell its readers that "Mr. Davis, the heroic President of the late Southern confederacy, may be looked for to-day or to-morrow," and that "the city will be proud to give him its hospitality." No doubt the paper speaks by authority, and the Mayor being a Mr. Starnes, a man who is devoted to the party in power and shares their pro-Confederate (Southern) views, it is very likely that Davis on his arrival will receive something like the hospitality of the city.—Montreal Cor. N. Y. Herald.

Mr. Davis still remains at the New York Hotel. Is is stated that he has been laboring under an attack of indisposition, which, although not very severe, compelled him to defer his projected visit to his children in Canada. From the time of his arrival he has not once left the hotel, and has not even stirred from his rooms. Should he be well enough he will probably leave New York tomorrow evening for Montreal.—N. Y. Herald, 19th.

In empannelling a jury in Houston, Texas, recently, a very large number of the freedmen of the city said frankly that they could not take the oath required by General Griffin's order. The presiding judge, however, told them that they were not citizens until 1866, and any act prior to that of hostility, voluntarily or involuntarily, would not disqualify them. Only three were taken on the panel.

The Mobile Tribune says fifteen hundred buildings have been put up since the surrender: that in ordinary times this fact would be taken as an evidence of prosperity; but it must be taken now as evidence of the extortion of landlords.

A "Paper Wedding" was celebrated in Waterbury, a night or two since—two years anniversary. The bride was arrayed in a paper dress, paper hat, paper gaiters, paper laces and paper everything.

Some of the Republican papers do not abuse Mr. Greeley for his generous conduct towards Mr. Davis. The Springfield Republican takes a friendly and practical view of the matter—and thinks it has fitted Mr. Greeley for the place of "grand pacificator" with the South, between it and the Republican party.

Portland, Me., is now the largest molasses importing place in the country, while its sugar trade is enormous. So say the Portland papers.

Candles are made out of bayberries, at Newton, N. J., and they are said to be superior to the best tallow.

As a specimen of Wilson's eloquence, he remarked in his speech at Atlanta? "Your Governor has got a maggot in his head about the Supreme Court."

It is said by those who have conversed with General Pope on the subject, that he intends to appoint two white men and one negro on the Registration Board in every county of his district.

Brownlow has threatened to challenge to mortal combat Hon. John Baxter, of East Tennessee, who has exposed some of the governor's misdeeds.

Brides now hire their diamonds for weddings in New York.

The Russian budget this year is 443,800,000 roubles.

Cucumbers sold in the Cincinnati market on Wednesday morning for fifty cents each.

Brigham Young says it is now as important to raise crops as saints.

CHARLESTON, S C., May 21.

BOOTH'S DIARY.

WASHINGTON, May 21.

Secretary Stanton has furnished a certified copy of Booth's diary to the President, which has been published. The first entry is as follows:

"April 13, 14.—Friday, (Ides.) Until to-day, nothing was ever thought of sacrificing to our country's wrongs. For six months we had worked to capture. But our cause being almost lost, something decisive and great must be done. But its failure was owing to others who did not strike for their country with a heart. I struck boldly, and not as the papers say. I walked with a firm step through a thousand of his friends; was stopped, but pushed on. A Colonel was at his side. I shouted sic semper before I fired. In jumping I broke my leg. I passed all his pickets, rode sixty miles that night with the bone of my leg tearing the flesh at every jump. I can never repent it, though we hated to kill. Our country owed all her troubles to him. And God simply made me an instrument of his punishment."

The balance of the diary is somewhat incoherent, without any allusion to his accomplices in the assassination except the boy who accompanied him. Certificates accompany the document, showing the mutilations of the diary to have occurred before the capture.

ORDER BY GEN. SICKLES.

CHARLESTON, May 21.

Gen. Sickles has issued an order prohibiting the distillation of spirits from grain in the second Military District. Offenders are declared liable to trial and punishment by Military Commission.

The reasons assigned for the order are that the present scanty supplies of food in the Carolinas are seriously diminished by the large quantity of grain consumed in distilleries worked in defiance of the revenue law; that this unlawful traffic makes food dearer in places where large numbers are depending upon the public and private bounty; that the Government is defrauded of a large amount of revenue, the authorities brought into contempt, and that the mischief complained of tends to increase poverty, disorder and crime.

ROBBERY NEAR WELDON—RECOVERY OF A PORTION OF THE STOLEN GOLD IN THIS CITY.—We announced, several days ago, the arrest of a negro man in this city, by officer Matt Peterson, under circumstances which induced the belief that he was either a thief or the possessor of stolen property. The name of this negro is Frank Moody. Upon his person was found a bill made out against Col. N. M. Long, who resides near Weldon, N. C., for certain articles of hardware purchased from a firm in Petersburg. This bill furnished some clue to the negro's identity, of which advantage was at once taken. Col Long was at once communicated with and responded that he had been robbed some months ago. He came on to Petersburg and on Monday morning appeared before Mayor Collier, when Moody was identified as having been in his employ at the time of the robbery, and when the bill aforesaid was declared to be correct. Col. Long stated that he had collected about $750 in gold four or five months ago to pay for some land he had purchased in his vicinity, and kept it in a bag in his drawer until it should be called for. One day, intending to go to Weldon, he went to his drawer to get the money to take it himself to the man from whom he had bought the farm. He found that about one half of the gold was missing, and thus learned that he had been robbed. The money was in $20 gold peices. The prisoner, he said, while on a visit to Petersburg some time ago, spent $90 in clothing.

The amount recovered from Moody is eleven $20 pieces, $220. The prisoner acknowledges the money to be the property of Col Long, but does not give a clear idea of how he got possession of it. He will be kept in jail here until sent to Weldon on a requisition from Gov. Worth.—Pet. Express.

The Rural World says the most accurate way to ascertain the age of a horse, is the following:

"After the horse is nine years old, a wrinkle comes on the eyelid, at the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter he has one well-defined wrinkle for each year over nine. If, for instance, a horse has three wrinkles, he is twelve; if four, he is thirteen. Add the number of wrinkles to nine, and you will always get it."

A Kentucky paper says Emerson Etheridge's platform in the coming canvass will be emancipation in the three remaining slave States, Tennessee, Missouri, and West Virginia.

KNOW THY DESTINY.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. FIRST CLASS PROPERTY FOR RENT.

THAT LARGE, COMMODIOUS, AND WELL known Hotel,

"THE METROPOLITAN"

situated in the center of the business portion of Greensboro, N. C., is offered for rent or lease.

Its advantages are many; the outhouses and improvements are in fine condition, and of modern construction. Greensboro is a point at which a well conducted Hotel cannot fail to pay an active manager very handsomely; being at the terminus of the Richmond, Danville and Piedmont Rail Road, about the middle of the N. C. Central Rail Road, in the very centre of the Mining District of N. C.; at a point always remarkable for its flourishing schools and female colleges, and well known as a summer resort, on account of its healthy atmosphere.

The proprietors would prefer renting to some party, who have had experience in conducting a first-class hotel, and to such the terms would be most liberal; at any rate they desire an active and energetic man. The Metropolitan Property being the only Hotel in the central part of town, makes it most desirable, and a competent manager would enjoy a monopoly.

THE SENTINEL.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1867.

SENTINEL SONGS.

When sinks the soldier brave
Dead at the feet of Wrong,
The poet sings—and guards his grave
With sentinels of Song.

"Go, Songs"—he gives command—
"Keep faithful watch and true;
The living and dead of the Conquered Land
Have now no guards save you."

"And Ballads! mark ye well,
Thrice holy is your trust;
Go to the field where warriors fell,
And sentinel their dust."

And the Songs, in stately rhyme,
With softly sounding tread,
March forth—to watch till the end of time,
Beside the silent dead.

And when the foeman's host
And hate have passed away,
Our guard of Songs shall keep their post,
Around our soldier's clay.

A thousand dawns may glow,
A thousand days may wane,
The deathless songs where the dead lie low,
True to the last, remain.

Yes, true! They will not yield
To tyrants or to time,
At ev'ry grave and on ev'ry field
Where men died deaths sublime.

Long vigils they will keep,
Obedient to their Bard,
And they will watch when we shall sleep—
Our last and only Guard.

What though our victors say
No column shall be built,
Lie mould'ring in their guilt?

Ah! let the tyrant curse
The dead he trampies down!
Our strong, brave songs in their sweet and verse,
Fear not the tyrant's frown.

What though no sculptured shaft
Commemorate our Brave?
What though no monument epitaphed

When marble wears away,
And monuments are dust,
The Songs that guard our soldier's clay
Will still-fulfill their trust.

A New Jersey justice has been fined $50 for discharging a thief upon his own recognizance, retaining a gold watch as security for his appearance.

The underpinnings of royalty are giving out. The Prince Imperial of France has an abscess in his leg, and the Princess of Wales has a bad knee.

If the world were crumbled to the finest dust and scattered through the universe, there would not be an atom of the dust for each star. Don't do it, then!

An exchange says it is hard telling which Chicago excels in most—the number of its rapes, divorces and murders, or the magnitude of its radical victories.

The Springfield Republican says: "With trichinæ in our meat, wrigglers in our water, and the constabulary in our liquor, we shall have a pretty time of it."

The "baby elephant" broke away from a menagerie in Providence, the other day.—The manager finally secured the "animile," and led it back to its anxious mother.

In the absence of mails, a California paper got up an article on 'the six days of creation,' and the editor of a Salt Lake sheet wrote a leader on "Soothing Syrup."

A Hottentot got up a painting of Heaven. It was enclosed with a fence made of sausages, while the centre was occupied with a fountain that squirted pot-pie.

One of the richest men in Massachusetts has become hopelessly insane from love of money, and spends his hours in solitude, counting over imaginary bags of gold.

A lecturer was dilating upon the powers of the magnet, defying any one to show or name anything surpassing its powers. A hearer demurred, and instanced a young lady who used to attract him 13 miles every Sunday.

It is about a year since Mr. Peabody landed in the United States, and an exchange thinks that, with the strictest economy, it must have cost him at least $4,000,000 to get along during the twelve months.

The wonderful French cannon, the construction of which is supposed to be a profound secret, can be fired, it is said, 40 or 50 times a minute. It carries correctly 2,000 yards, and a single discharge would destroy the whole front of a battalion. It is so light that two men can easily lift it.

A young lady residing in the vicinity of Brooklyn, complains that she became so interested in a young man who visited her, that while in his society she lost her diamond ring and found a brass one on her finger instead—and adds "that it the ring is returned she will ask no question."

A gentleman once asked, "What is woman?" when a happy married man replied: "She is an essay on grace, in one volume, elegantly bound. Although it may be dear, every man should have a copy of it."

Josh Billings says it is highly important that when a man makes up his mind tew becum a raskal, that he should examine himself closely and see if he ain't better konstructed for a pbool.

We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another.

"Look here, boy," said a nervous gentleman to an urchin who was munching candy at a lecture: "you are annoying me very much." "No I ain't neither," said the urchin. "I'm a gnawing this 'ere candy."

A man has applied for a divorce from his wife at Chicago, on the ground of extreme cruelty. She has "walloped" him regularly for nineteen years, until, having the spirit of a man, he won't stand it any longer.

A plantation in Wilcox county, Alabama, containing from fifteen hundred to two thousand acres which, before the war, produced from eight thousand to ten thousand bushels of corn, and from three hundred and fifty to five hundred bales of cotton, was rented the other day for one hundred and thirty dollars a year.

California, twenty years ago, had no newspapers. Now, there are 12 dailies, 1 tri-weekly, and 41 weeklies in San Francisco. In the remainder of the State there are 12 dailies, 1 tri-weekly and 79 weeklies.

An English doctor sent in his bill to a disconsolate widow, "for curing your husband till he died."

Addison was not a ready talker. A lady once rallied him on his backwardness in that respect. "Madam," said the essayist, "I don't carry small change about with me, but I can draw on my banker for a thousand pounds." We don't see but he talked well enough then.

Phillips told us in Brooklyn that the negro shall not only have the ballot, "but he shall have forty acres under his feet." That is twenty acres to each foot. The Democracy never said anything half so bad about the physical peculiarities of our black brother.

"Mark Twain" says that to "see a lovely girl of seventeen, with her saddle on her head, and her muzzle on behind, and her veil covering the end of her nose, come tripping along in her hoopless, red-buttoned dress, like a chaos on fire, is enough to set a man wild."

The Boston Journal, on Saturday, gave some facts showing "what it costs to live" in these days of beef and mutton. Since that publication, a glance at an undertaker's bill has shown "what it costs to die." The Journal concludes upon the whole that it is cheaper to live.

A radical organ advises that Congress forbid the Alabama Legislature to call a new county "Dixie." How long before the radical organs will be for prescribing how Southern parents shall name their children!

A young lady riding in the rear car of a long train, remarked to her companion that the train seemed to move very slowly; and a moment after added with almost Pattingtonian unconsciousness, "but perhaps it is because we are in the last car!"

A Virginia negro, according to an exchange, on hearing that Congress was going to give lands to the darkies, said: "Land! de debbil! I's free now, and don't want no land. I's gwine to git wums and go a-fishin." Give him a vote.

Bed bugs, according to a lady correspondent, have a great aversion to salt. She states that if the articles and places infested with bed bugs are washed with salt water, and the crevices in which the vermin hide are filled with it, they will give no more trouble.

The Hartford Courant wanted to speak of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue,—but the compositor got it "Internal Revenge,"—and wasn't far out of the way, either!

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish, as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 5th section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United states against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5. That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
